

[FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE]

April 14, 2010

(Newport, RI) On Saturday, March 27th Confident Captain/Ocean Pros successfully hosted their first “Women on the Water” workshop. Geared specifically towards female boaters, “Women on the Water” provides fun and educational instruction for women in a stress-free and exciting environment.

Due to an overwhelming response from the first workshop, Confident Captain/Ocean Pros will be offering the course again on Saturday June 19th at the Confident Captain maritime training facility in Newport, RI.

Ashley Crouch, a 27-year-old officer in the United States Coast Guard, leads the workshop. Ashley graduated in 2006 from the Coast Guard Academy and lived in Newport from 2006-2008 while stationed aboard one of Newport’s three Coast Guard buoy-tenders. Throughout the day she guides the women through the basics of recreational boating including general navigation, docking, anchoring, and emergency procedures! An attendee from the first workshop commented, “facilities were excellent, accommodations were great, and material was very informative. Thank you for keeping the course material “101” so novice boaters like myself felt comfortable.”

Women on the Water Workshop Details:

- Date: Saturday, June 19th
- Time: 9AM-3PM
- Cost: $95 (includes breakfast, lunch, and full day of instruction!)
- Location: 449 Thames Street, Suite 300, Newport RI (parking available)
- For more information:
Call us at 401 849 1257

Space is limited so please call 401 849 1257 to reserve a seat today!